Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

The following letter written by Attorney Zach Lamar Cobb of Los Angele to members of the State Legislature so completely reflects the thoughts of the editor of the Nugget concerning Communism and its dangers to California, that it is herewith reproduced:

To the Honorable Members of the Senate and Assembly,
Legislature of California,
Sacramento, California.

Gentlemen:

Now that you are about to convene in special session, your attention is respectfully called to the following findings in the recent Landis report, as quoted in the Los Angeles Examiner of December 31, 1939, tracing the "relationship" of the alien, Harry Bridges, to the Communist Party, in part, as follows:

"They are, in general, his well defined opposition toward 'red baiting'; his acceptance of aid and assistance in his industrial struggles from the Communist Party—indeed, his solicitation of that aid, his expressed disinclination to disavow that help; his association with persons admittedly Communist, an association that derives primarily from his request for and acceptance of such aid.

"There are, specifically, * * * his not infrequent conferences with the Communist officials on the Pacific Coast * * *."

The conclusion of Dean Landis that Bridges was not a member of the Communist Party is of little importance in view of the foregoing findings, since approved by Secretary Perkins, that he sought, received, and used "aid and assistance" from the Communist party, and that he held "not-infrequent conferences with the Communist officials on the Pacific Coast."

Speaking only as a private citizen and life long Democrat, but voicing the sentiment of eighty per cent, and more, of the people of California, in the wholesome revival of patriotism that is now sweeping the length and breadth of the State, I respectfully submit for your consideration:

1. That you take special notice of the sorrow, tyranny, and oppression suffered by the people of Communist Russia and Nazi Germany, as the inevitable result of their submission to Karl Marxism, in contrast with our freedom and the security of our economic and political life, under the institutions and traditions of American Democracy.

2. That the institutions and traditions of California be safeguarded with the utmost care to protect our people from any "relationship" between either radical aliens, Communists, the communistic, or any of their associates, and any public officials of the State.

3. That the State owned Port of San Francisco, and the University and School Systems of the State, be protected from any possible invasion of their management by radical aliens, Communists, the communistic, or any of their associates.

4. That the farmers, industries and working people of California be likewise protected from destructive interference by radical aliens, Communists, the communistic, or any of their associates.

5. That more humanitarian consideration and treatment be given the worthy and unfortunate on relief, by taking state relief out of politics, and freeing the system from the deplorable conditions that now exist. That the control of relief be placed under a bona fide State Bi-Partisan Board, to provide State-wide standards of relief, but that actual supervision be left to local non-partisan authorities.

6. That the office of Director of Finance be taken out of politics, and that the State's fiscal affairs be divorced from fantastic, socialistic dreams. No private business would employ a cashier for political purposes, nor permit the use of company funds to finance enterprises in competition with the business of the company and Its stockholders. There is no excuse for using the taxpayers' money to operate production-for-use projects in California, in competition with the producers and workers of the State. When the use of tax money is restricted to legitimate relief and governmental purposes we will probably find that there will be no need for additional taxes.

Respectfully submitted,
ZACH LAMAR COBB.

WORK RESUMED ON TRUCK TRAIL

Work has been resumed on the Mosquito Ridge truck trail project according to Forest Supervisor DeWitt Nelson. Forty enrollees from Forest Hill CCC camp will be employed on the project under the supervision of foreman A. J. Parker, of Nevada City. Arrangements are being made to move the spike camp from its present location near Michigan Bluff to Skunk Canyon on the North Fork of the Middle Fork of the American River in order to have the men quartered nearer the work.

NEW PROPOSAL TO STOP ABUSE OF INITIATIVE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—A plan to end "racketeering" by use of the initiative in California was advanced today by Will H. Anderson, president of the Association Against Abuse of the Initiative and one of the original sponsors of the intiative. The plan, Anderson said, is in full accord with the original intent of the sponsors of the initiative.

"The solution is simple and one that should meet with general agreement," he stated. "It does not take away any right of the people, but simply stops up loopholes not foreseen 30 years ago when the initiative law was first drafted."

Anderson stated the plan was suggested by Ross Marshall, secretary of the association, and was based as follows:

The state legislature was created as the source of all state laws.

The initiative was not intended to be a means of evading the legislature or of supplanting the legislature as the source of laws, as has been attempted repeatedly in recent years in connection with "Ham and Eggs", the single tax, etc. It was intended simply to be a means of the people securing needed laws when the legislature refused to act.

Therefore, the intent of the sponsors of the initiative can be carried out by amending the present law to provide that all initiative measures must first, when qualified by the proper number of signatures be submitted to the legislature. If the legislature refuses to act, the initiative proposal should automatically be placed on the ballot at the following state general election.

"The foregoing is just what we had in mind when we created the initiative," Anderson said. "The Marshall plan makes possible carrying out our original intentions. This method, also, would prevent repeated submission of initiatives oftener than once in two years and in many cases, would extend the time to not over once in three years. At the same time, it would preserve all the rights of the people."

GRAND PRESIDENT OF NATIVE SONS COMING

Tomorrow evening Hydraulic Parlor No. 56, N. S. G. W., will entertain their Grand First Vice President Henry Lyons of Placerville, El Dorado county of which county he is district attorney. Members of Quartz Parlor of Grass Valley have been invited to the meeting. The visiting grand officer will speak on the affairs of the order and bring the message of Grand President J. H. Miller of San Francisco. A banquet will be served following the meeting.

ALASKA MINE IS SOON UNWATERED

Another pump has been installed at the Alaska mine at Pike City and work is progressing satisfactorily. It is expected the 680 foot shaft will be dewatered in about two weeks. The dewatering of this mine is being watched with keen interest on account of the heavy flow of water that stopped work years ago. Col. Miller, engineer for the company, is at the mine.

MORNING GLORY MINE RE-OPENS AT ALLEGHANY

The Morning Glory mine near Alleghany, inactive since 1924, has been re-opened by a group of Alleghany residents who are operating on a lease from the Morning Glory Mining Co.

A crew of five men under the direction of E. H. Breuning, consulting engineer and superintendent, recently de-watered the 477 foot shaft and a cursory examination by the operators revealed indications of exceptional values.

Equipment at the mine includes two compressors, hoist, pump and a five stamp mill.

The Morning Glory has had a good past record of production. One of the richest strikes in the district was found where the Morning Glory and the Tightner (now part of the 16-to-1) intersected.

Breuning, University of Nevada graduate, is a veteran mining man. He has been connected with mines in the Alleghany district most of his life. He was formerly connected with the Oriental and Mammoth Springs mines.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE TAX DUE JANUARY 31

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—January 31 is the deadline for the payment of Unemployment Insurance contributions to the California Employment Commission to obtain the 90 per cent credit offset against the federal unemployment tax.

An excise tax of 3 per cent is levied on payrolls of subject employers with eight or more employees under Title IX of the Federal Social Security Act. Provision is made under the law for the crediting of ninety per cent of all contributions paid to the Unemployment Insurance Fund as against the federal tax levy.

All contrbiutions for the fourth quarter, which ended December 31, 1939, and any previous delinquencies for 1939 must be received by the Employment Commission by January 31, 1940 to insure the offset.

Subject employers failing to make contributions payments by January 31 will be liable for both state and federal taxes, which would constitute nearly a double payment for the delinquency.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Williams, owners of the Triangle chicken ranch near the Loma Rica ranch were business visitors in Nevada City today. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are eastern people who came to this county two years ago. They have built a two-story log house on their property and built and installed the latest in equipment for a model chicken farm.

E. L. Baxter and Ranger Frank Delaney of the Downieville district returned today from Galena Creek near Reno where they spent several days attending ski school.

OLSON FACING TAX REBELLION

By CLEM WHITAKER

Editor's Note — In a preceding article, Mr. Whitaker traced the staggering upward climb of California taxes during the past six years. The following article is a revealing close-up of expenditure increases which caused the tax increases.

If it kicks over the traces and refuses to vote new taxes ,the special session of the State Legislature, just convened, may put a period—or at least a semicolon — to the biggest spending era in the history of California State Government!

The current tax rebellion, even if entirely successful, can't cancel the bill, however, for the six years which preceded it—a bill that first doubled, and then trebled, as pressure for bigber relief appropriations, pressure for bigger pensions and pressure for countless new governmental services broke down all barriers.

Taxes for State purposes alone, during the six years, skyrocketed $220,970,939—from $90,879,770 in 1933 to $131,850,709 in 1939!

WHY?

Six years ago, when the State first started using tax funds for relief, the bill for the year was $25,000. (Two bond issues had been voted previously, however, to relieve unemployment.)

Last year, the bill was $43,510,004!

A handful of employes administered relief six years ago. Now the State Relief Administration (SRA), with 6.580 employes, boasts the largest personnel of any department of State government.

Six years ago, the annual bill for old age pensions, and aid to the blind and orphans, totaled $3,724,571.

Last year, the bill was $24,143,909!

Six years ago, the item. "Support of State Government," totaled $37,975,483. Last year, supporting the various State departments cost $62,491,126!

Generally speaking, two major factors were responsible for the unprecedented increase in expenditurs which brought about the unprecedented increase in taxes.

1. Assumption by the State, due to economic conditions and insistent demands from "pressure groups", of problems which had previously been left to the individual, or the family. Examples: A vast relief system and the highest old age pension system in the Nation.

2. A tremendous increase in the number of governmental bureaus and departments, due to relaxed public vigilance. Also a big increase in the payrolls of existing departments.

When campaign time rolls around, however, California's city councilmen and county supervisors, with few exceptions, can point to their records with pride and the facts to support them. The cost of local government in California increased only about 10 per cent during the six year period when federal and State expenditures were catapulting to new all-time highs.

That withering blast from John L. Lewis, truculent CIO chieftain, denouncing President Roosevelt and accusing the New Deal of short-changing labor, still has the political boys pop-eyed, and unbelieving. Mr. Lewis' reminder that he contributed $500,000 to the Democratic campaign kitty at the last election—coupled with his bitter lament, "We wuz robbed!"—brought the cryptic comment in party circles: "What did the guy expect for a half million?"

But now that the CIO czar has condemned Garner, McNutt and Roosevelt, all with equal vigor, some of the Bourbon leaders strongly suspect that Mr. Lewis' choice for President is—Mr. Lewis!

If the Olson Recall Committee (backed by the independent oils) wins its current court action to halt the premature filing of petitions, the recall has better than a 50-50 chance of making the ballot, we are advised. The fourth in a series of recall drives, this one has dough behind it!

With most of his new tax proposals seemingly doomed to speedy defeat at the special legislative session, Governor Olson is being importuned, according to report, to take another look at the legalized "bookie," bill which he vetoed a year ago. A tax on bookmaking and lotteries, its sponsors contend, would yield a fabulous income of 60 million annually. And the governor, if all else fails, might be sorely tempted.

Record Class Today Admitted As Citizens

The largest class in the history of Nevada County to apply for citizenship was examined today by Umpire Z. B. Jackson. Forty three applications were received and of that number 37 were approved and the applicants given their papers.

Three applications were continued because the prospective citizens had insufficient knowledge of the examination questions. Two were continued in order that police records can be investigated and one was continued until a deposition of residence in counties other than this one can be obtained.

At the conclusion of the examination, representatives of the American Legion Auxiliary and the Native Daughters of the Golden West gave each of the new citizens patriotic books and flags. Judge George L. Jones in his closing remarks extolled the caliber of the class and told them that now they have but one duty to perform—duty to their new government.

The list of successful applicants follows:

Clemente Muscardini, and Mrs. Teresa Solaro, Nevada City; Giocondo Facchini and Ernest Massera, North Bloomfield; John Vlavovich, Truckee.

Narcissio Renucci, Frank Kitto, Gaetano Zugnoni, Ernest Ellery, Frank Zupancio, Bernard Boutayre, Albert Hampton, Jan Bertelsen, Jas. Minear, Pelligrino Ferrari, Edward Bennetts, Mrs. Eliza Allen, Emily Billings, Villare Autem, Severino Vasquez, Angelo Seghezzi, Mrs. Florence Heather, Frank Grahut, Guido Festi, Mrs. Annie Bertonchini, Mrs. Ivy Rasmussen, George Hudson, Geo. Kostenko, Mrs. Wilhelmina Beckerleg, Ernest Beckerleg, Frieda Kramm, Walter Murphy, Antonio Robinson, Campbell Downs and Mrs. Sigrid Benson, all from Grass Valley.

GRAND HUMBUG AND RETINUE ARE S. F. VISITORS

Clyde Gwin, noble grand humbug of the William Bull Meek Chapter of E Clampus Vitus, attended by H. F. Sofge, Otis Brown and H. M. Leete, officials of the same chapter, attended a historical exploration expedition instituted by the Yerba Buena chapter in San Francisco Saturday. Following the peringrinations of the Clampers in the afternoon an initiation of 23 poor blind candidates was held in the rooms of the Historical Society of California, followed by a banquet in the Hotel Empire. Among noted guests and Clampers were Charles Humphries, Scotty Allen, and noted attorneys and engineers. Scotty Allen told stories of his experiences on the Skagway and gave vivid accounts of the activities of Soapy Smith and some of his charities in Alaska.

New Army of Taxeaters

With taxes at an all time high and the Legislature in special session thinking up new ones, a new army of taxeaters is bobbing up in state departments and bureaus. They are called Deputy Administrators. How many there are to be is not specified. The estimate runs as high as 200. The pay is around $400 a month for most of them.

When the present administration took over, it found all the good jobs, civil service and term appointment, filled by the outgoing regime. Something had to be done for the camp followers. The Deputy Administrator is the answer and it is likely to cost the taxpayers another $2,000,000 or so per year.

Each Deputy Administrator means more stenographers, more clerks, more state automobiles, more gas, oil and tires and more expense accounts as the Deputy Administrators go about on their important and interesting tours to see how things are getting along.

Where the money is coming from apparently is not worrying the administration. Judicious distribution of jobs no doubt will spur a spending-minded Legislature to find various ways and means.

The department and bureau heads to whom the Deputy Administrators are assigned do not want or need them. In fact, they regard them as much as Russian Army officers look on the political commissars sent to keep an eye on their political regularity.

Taxpayers having a tough time to buy their own tires and pay their own expenses may justly get hot under the collar about the new load being put on them, instead of economies to lighten the pack. Their only recourse is to warn their legislators that the extravagance of government has got to stop, or there will be some new faces in Sacramento.—Contributed.

Not Even A Poorhouse

The Governor's message to the Legislature is in tune with the current political philosophy of extravagance.

Nowhere in the chart provided for the special session, is there any suggestion of possible economies. Instead it reaches in every direction for every penny that taxing hands can be laid upon.

Every avenue of revenue that imagination can suggest is explored. The proposed raid is so terrifying that the taxpayers are expected to accept any compromise with gratitude.

The message is the governor's, but it is typical of national, state and municipal tax messages everywhere. Any suggestion of economy is sternly rebuked as anti-social. The existing political philosophy is that every penny of wealth in the country should be seized and dissipated as fast as possible. Spending has become the means of getting and keeping political power. Tax raid that a few years ago would have brought prompt punishment now are endured with docility that invites new aggression.

The people must serve notice on their legislators that the spending has got to stop. They must be deaf to the specious reasoning that excuses the spending. Unless they do, this will become a nation ready to go over the hill to the poorhouse, but with none to go to.—Contributed.

Isms Are Wasms

The conviction of Communist Earl Browder in Federal Court in New York, with a sentence of four years and $2,000 fine, is a warning to alien-inspired hellraisers that public patience is getting worn out.

Browder was not convicted of communism, but of fraud in getting passports to use in his communist activity trips to Moscow. The squawk about persecution set up by pinks and punks is nonsense.

Admittedly American-born, Browder probably would not have been prosecuted if the Dies Committee had not turned up. The same is true of German-born Bund Leader Kuhn, now in Sing Sing for stealing money. If these persons, Browder and Kuhn, had not made themselves public nuisances, they would not have attracted attention from the Dies Committee. The important thing is, they got fair trials. And the encouraging thing is that radical activity is not a license for crime, as so many of its devotees seem to think it is.

Citizens who supposed that what they earned belonged to them, and struggled to carry on and produce, pay taxes, educate their children and keep body and soul together, have been harried by investigations that bedevilled them by boiling over when, like village Hampdens, they resisted the tyrants who menaced their little fields. They can take some satisfaction from the fact that the investigating committee, with its faults of method, trying to save the American form of government, has landed two subversive leaders in the net, probably with more to come. We can still "praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation.—Contributed.

DEANNA DURBIN GETS FIRST KISS IN 'FIRST LOVE'

Deanna Durbin grows up another notch in "First Love," which comes to the Nevada Theatre Wednesday.

Longer skirts, a more adolescent outlook on life, and the first love affair of her screen career, are the definite elements in the "growing-up" program which producer Joe Pasternak and officials at Universal studios have decreed for their young singing star in this picture.

Deanna gets her first screen kiss in "First Love." It will not be the torrid variety—more of the young boy and girl kind, but definitely a kiss. And, as a mark of the gradual approach of young ladyhood, Deanna receives her first proposal of marriage.

Bestower of the kiss and proposal is Robert Stack, a Joe Pasternak "find," who has been playing roles in Little Theatres around Los Angeles. He's a good looking 20 year old U. S. C. student, unknown to cinema addicts, but who promises to be a revelation on the screen. Young, blonde and handsome as he is, Deanna refuses his proposal in favor of the pursuit of a musical career.

Pasternak's "gradual-growing-up" program for Deanna is credited with more than a minor portion of the success of the Durbin pictures.

In "First Love" Deanna will be seen with a cast which includes Helen Parrish, Robert Stack, Eugene Pallette, Lewis Howard, June Storey, Latrice Joy, Marcia Mae Jones, and Charles Colemon. It was directed by Henry Koster.

PERILS OF NIGHT DRIVING RECITED

Tests show that glaring headlights cause blindness for three seconds.

During that three seconds an oncoming car proceeding at the legal rate of forty five miles per hour will travel 200 feet with the driver's vision blinded.

Thousands of times every night in California drivers are passing through these 200 feet (longer if the speed is greater) blind areas in which their safety and that of their passengers is in fate's hands.

Seeking to impress this on the public, Chief E. R. Cato of the California Highway Patrol has issued orders for a campaign against all the evils of night driving.

Principally he is aiming at eliminating glaring headlights, the so-called "one eyed" lights and the failure of drivers to dim lights on approaching other cars.

In addition to ordering arrests, he is requesting service station operators throughout the state to check on auto lights when their customers drive in for gasoline.

Indicating the prevalency of defective lights are the figures for the first eleven months of 1939, which show that 12,371 convictions were obtained in California for this offense. Of these 6,245 were fined a total of $20,759. The others were required to bring satisfactory evidence to court to show they had the trouble corrected.

Other thousands were stopped on the highways and streets by officers and required to have corrections made.

"One of the worst evils is the so-caled 'one eyed' cars," said Cato.

"These fellows are menaces to themselves as well as to approaching cars. Drivers of other cars do not know which light is off, the left or right, and consequently do not know how to steer to avoid the oncoming car with one light.

"Also these drivers with only one light have vision on one side of the road. Usually the fact of one light being off throws more current into the other light and thus sets up a bad glare that aggravates the situation. A man with bad lights might as well have his hands off the wheel."

Figures for the first eleven months of 1939 show that 1,051 accidents were caused in California by drivers being blinded or confused by the lights of an oncoming car. Of this number ninety seven were fatal accidents.

Cars with headlights that were dim or out caused 275 accidents, resulting in twenty four deaths; cars with the rear light out caused 127 accidents, resulting in ten deaths, and cars with the lights not turned on at dusk caused 163 accidents, resulting in fifteen deaths.

In the same period there was a total of 18,420 daylight accidents, resulting in 925 deaths, 1,380 accidents at dusk, resulting in ninety five deaths, and 16,764 night accidents, resulting in 1,519 deaths.

TRIP OF ... USE DUE TO AUTO TRAVEL

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29.—Modern methods of transportation, the automobile especially are creating new types of land use in America's desert areas, says Dr. Robert M. Glendinning, assistant professor of geography at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Doctor Glendinning presents Death Valley as example. Only since 1926 have large numbers of automobiles conquered the phyiscal barriers. Before 1926 a few persons saw Death Valley each year, but today it is visited annually by approximately 60,000 persons who spend an estimated $300,000.

He points out the roles that Death Valley has played since its discovery: a region for exploration, a region of scientific curiosity, a region of borax mining, a region of gold and silver mining, and finally a region of recreation.

"The coming of the automobile brought a major transformation," Dr. Glendinning says, "The valley became fairly well known and this knowledge widely bringing to light as it did the magnificent physical setup and favorable climatic aspect of the cooler season resulted in an ever growing elaboration of highways and services both in and around the Valley."

VIA MAXIMA IS FIRST WITH LINE IN ROAD MIDDLE

BERKELEY, Jan. 29.—A number of people have claimed the credit for originating the idea of the line which runs down the middle of the highways to keep automobiles and trucks from colliding. But it looks as though the palm will have to go to the early Romans, who developed the idea so that their speeding chariots might be kept apart.

This was stated in the second Pacific Coast Traffic Officers' Training School at the University of California here by H. E. Hammond, director of the traffic division, National Conservation Bureau, New York.

The Roman system was really better than the white line, Hammond said. It used a series of wooden blocks because the Romans wanted to have permanent markers. And they seem to have achieved a clean record in regard to the traffic accidents on the Via Maxima, despite the fact that they were not nearly as careful, apparently, during the chariot races in the Coliseum.

A white highway with black dividing lines is more effective in the prevention of accidents than a dark highway with a white line, Hammond said. The ideal arrangement, however, would be a dark line with the white borders, which is being tried in a number of places. The dark line should be some glossy substance which would reflect the car lights at night under conditions where a white line would not be visible.

The system of pedestrian operated traffic signals is growing, Hammond said, and it is working well.

CALIF. AIRCRAFT INDUSTRY RISES TO NEW PEAK

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—California factories, headed by the aircraft industry, employed more workers and paid more wages during December, 1939, than in any December in the state's record. State Labor Commissioner H. C. Carrasco reported to Governor Olson this week.

During December aircraft factories recorded an increase of 125 per cent over the same period in 1938 in the number of workers employed and an increase of 108 per cent over December 1938, in payrolls, Commissioner Carrasco reported. Aircraft plants, he said, employed 23,909 persons last December as against 10,626 in December, 1938, with aircraft industry payrolls rose from a weekly total of $345,000 in December, 1938 to $721,000 during December, 1939.

The report showed that manufacturing industries generally registered an increase of 16 per cent in employment and 19 per cent in payrolls for the month.

MEDICOS URGE PSITTACOSIS BAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—That the United States needs a Maginot Line against invasions of psittacosis or parrot fever, an infectious disease, of birds which is transmissable to human beings, was indicated in a report made public recently by Dr. Karl F. Meyer, director of the George Williams Hooper Foundation of the University of California Medical School. Present measures to prevent entrance of infected birds are inadequate, Dr. Meyer believes.

Since 1933 it has been known that birds released following the usual inspection and quarantine have later infected human beings, Meyer said. So the Hooper Foundation has been studying the inadequate barriers by examining suspected shipments of the birds quarantined in California ports.

These investigations have resulted in the barring since 1938 of three large shipments of birds which might have slipped past the ordinary quarantine procedure.
